“AGCO believes that TAFE’s latest actions, led by its Chairman and Managing Director, are yet another misguided reaction to a commercial decision by the Company that impacts TAFE’s business, and therefore demonstrates that TAFE’s own interests are fundamentally misaligned with other AGCO shareholders. The Company will review and evaluate the notice in accordance with the proxy rules in due course. There is no action AGCO shareholders need to take at this time.

AGCO’s Board has an effective leadership structure in place with a strong Lead Independent Director that ensures independent and active oversight of the Company’s management team. AGCO maintains an open dialogue with all stockholders and has a proven record of taking actions that enhance the Company’s governance profile. Under the Company’s current leadership structure, AGCO achieved record full-year net sales and adjusted operating margins in 2023, outperforming the global market, and the Company is on track to deliver structurally higher adjusted operating margins this year compared to prior industry downturns.”

Safe Harbor:

The statements above include forward-looking statements. Actual results could differ materially from those suggested by the forward-looking statements for a number of reasons, including possible further declines in revenue, the ability of AGCO to manage operating and other expenses, the ability to integrate the PTx Trimble business and improve its sales, and the other reasons referenced under Risk Factors in AGCO’s Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2023, and the subsequent Form 10-Qs, all as filed with Securities and Exchange Commission.
